Welcome to the Summer 2019 issue of From Homelessness to Housing: Measure H Quarterly Update.

Los Angeles County is two years into a ten-year effort to combat and prevent homelessness funded by Measure H, thanks to the affirmation and support of voters across LA County. We knew when we got started that this complex crisis was many years in the making and would not be solved overnight.

Because of you, our homeless services system is doing more today than ever before in helping thousands of people move from homelessness to housing. In 2018, 133 people per day moved from homelessness into permanent housing in L.A. County, but 150 people fell into homelessness. The news is disheartening, but we are undeterred. The magnitude of this issue will not impact our perseverance and commitment to serving the men, women and children in need of our support.

Looking at our neighboring counties who have seen increases from 20–50 percent, we know that without Measure H, our increase would have been far greater. Our dedicated resources are making a meaningful difference.

And we’re all in. Addressing homelessness is a top priority among our local and State policymakers. Last month, the Board of Supervisors made a $460 million investment to scale up our fight against homelessness by approving the (FY) 2019–20 Measure H spending plan. The County’s unprecedented investment is reinforced at the State level as the FY 2019-20 State budget includes $650 million for localities to combat homelessness, and Governor Newsom has created the California Homelessness Task Force to accelerate progress, co-chaired by Los Angeles County Supervisor Mark Ridley-Thomas and Sacramento Mayor Darrell Steinberg. And, we’re working with our State leaders to strengthen tenant protections and address the housing issues at the heart of this crisis.

We have a long road ahead as the economic and housing factors driving people into homelessness persist. But, we are not discouraged. Los Angeles is investing, responding and working together and we are making a difference. And with your active involvement, we will continue to bring our homeless neighbors home and create lasting change.

Thank you for being an integral part of this effort.

Welcome to the Summer 2019 issue of From Homelessness to Housing: Measure H Quarterly Update.

Los Angeles County is two years into a ten-year effort to combat and prevent homelessness funded by Measure H, thanks to the affirmation and support of voters across LA County. We knew when we got started that this complex crisis was many years in the making and would not be solved overnight.

Because of you, our homeless services system is doing more today than ever before in helping thousands of people move from homelessness to housing—more than 21,000 across the Countywide homeless services system in 2018. And thanks to you, we have doubled the number of people moving into housing over the course of each year, and tripled our prevention and outreach efforts.

Even with these record housing placements, the news that homelessness in L.A. County has increased by 12 percent in the 2019 Homeless Count revealed some hard truths about the complexity of our housing crisis and the multifaceted response it demands. Read the Homeless Count results here. Economic disparities and the combined forces of skyrocketing rents, unjust evictions and a severe lack of affordable housing are driving more and more people into homelessness. In 2018, 133 people per day moved from homelessness into permanent housing in L.A. County, but 150 people fell into homelessness.

Los Angeles Sheriff’s Department Recognized For Community Policing

IN APRIL, THE LOS ANGELES SHERIFF’S Department Homeless Outreach Service Team (HOST) received the prestigious Peace Officers Association of Los Angeles County Centurion Award for Excellence in Community Policing. In honoring their work, the Association declared, “The HOST Team is truly committed to providing specialized homeless outreach to the residents of Los Angeles County.

The Community Rallies at HomeWalk

SINCE IT BEGAN IN 2007, UNITED WAY of Greater Los Angeles’ HomeWalk has mobilized more than 95,000 participants and has transformed the lives of more than 19,000 people, helping them move from homelessness to housing. It’s the largest annual event to end homelessness in the country and a strong demonstration of support to serve our most vulnerable.

In May, thousands of people rallied together with the Los Angeles Rams at the 12th annual HomeWalk Bringing Everyone In To End Homelessness in Grand Park, in support of housing solutions to tackle our homelessness crisis.

Thanks to thousands of supporters, the community raised more than $1.1 million. Those funds will amplify our work combating homelessness by helping our most vulnerable neighbors move off of the streets and into the stability of a home.

County Acts to Keep People in Their Homes

INCREASED FOCUS ON PREVENTION is paramount to stemming the tide of homelessness. In May, the Board of Supervisors approved two groundbreaking homelessness prevention motions. The first calls for an assessment of local eviction data and eviction defense programs nationwide to inform the design of a program to provide legal counsel to at-risk low-income renters in L.A. County—to address disruptive evictions that often lead to homelessness and displacement. The second calls for a comprehensive homelessness prevention assessment and action plan, requiring County departments to identify ways to leverage mainstream health, social services, and criminal justice system resources to prevent homelessness—and provide our neighbors with social services and support before they become homeless. Recommendations will be submitted to the Board around these motions, with the goal of enacting new tools and program efforts that will strengthen our ability to keep people in their homes.
Sober-Living Home Provides A Fresh Start

After falling on some troubled times, Gerardo came to Chrysalis eager to return to the workforce. Balancing a job search while also receiving treatment in a sober living home proved challenging. His Employment Specialist referred him to Chrysalis Works, a social enterprise that offers clients transitional employment providing street maintenance and trash removal throughout the community. He enrolled in LA:RISE and was matched with the West Los Angeles America’s Job Center of California.

With support from his case manager, Gerardo gained access to supportive services while continuing to receive guidance on his job search. Thanks to this wraparound approach, Gerardo landed a dishwashing job. However, a few months later, he decided to pursue a more rewarding career path and enrolled in community college to study alcohol and drug counseling. Today, Gerardo is in school, eight months sober, and recently reunited with his daughter.

“I came from the treatment center, I came from being in the street and having nothing going for myself, until coming here. Keep doing what you’re doing. Put hard work into job searching, getting to your interviews, and keeping your head up. Just focus on hard work and try your best, you can do it.”

Foster Care Alumna On The Advanced Education Path

After aging out of foster care, Erika had limited resources, family or social supports. Pathways Housing program provided a window of hope for Erika to evade the devastation of homelessness, especially as a transition age youth.

She has already begun to make amazing strides in both her professional and academic career. Erika maintains an ambitious schedule as a full-time MSW student at Cal State LA and a full-time Caseworker at Children’s Law Center LA, while she makes strides towards her own well-being. She also shares information on foster care resources with her fellow residents and staff.

Stable housing in one of Pathways’ apartments in East Los Angeles gave Erika the foundation to continue her journey and pursue her education and employment opportunities.

“Living in Pathways housing has provided me with the housing stability I need to continue to pursue and pay for my own education.”

Claudia Finds Renewed Hope

Claudia lived in a vehicle for more than a year with her two sons due to a breakdown of her family support system. She walked into St. Joseph Center in December 2017 and was assigned a case manager.

Thanks to St. Joseph, Claudia obtained multiple motel vouchers and a host of support, including a housing choice voucher, job leads, gift cards, groceries, beds and bus tokens. These essential resources gave Claudia a deeper sense of self-worth and hopefulness, and a renewed trust in relationships that would help her create a safe environment and stick to her stable-housing plan.

Recently, Claudia showed her case manager a video of her son walking into their new home, with joy and excitement and tears in her eyes. Since being housed, Claudia has found a job and has both children in school.

“St. Joseph Center provided me with one of the best case workers ever, Donovan. He has stuck by me through everything, even when I felt like giving up, and he made sure I had a place to stay when I was sleeping in my car with my two boys. If I didn’t walk into the St. Joseph office, I wouldn’t be the person I have grown into today and I thank everybody.”
